

Preface .....	ix
General Introduction.....	xi
Chapter One.....	1
The Philosophy of Immaterialism
1. Preliminary Remarks .....	1
2. The New Principles and Its Credentials .....	2
3. The New Principle and Scepticism .....	10
4. Refutation of Matter.....	13
5. Berkeley's Phenomenalist Account of sensible Objects .....	24
6. Phenomenalism, Immaterialism and God .....	29
7. Concluding Remarks.....	34
Chapter Two .....	37
Traditional Estimation of Berkeley's Philosophy
1. Preliminary Remarks .....	37
2. Hume's Appraisal of Berkeley.....	38
3. Thomas Reid's Critique of Berkeley .....	59
4. Contemporary Objections .....	68
5. Concluding Remarks.....	77
Chapter Three .....	79
A New Portrait of Berkeley
1. Preliminary Remarks .....	79
2. Historical Context of Berkeley's thought and the Origin of the New Interpretation .....	81
3. The Question of Berkeley's Relation to Common Sense: Ardley and Reid .....	93
4. Sources of Mistaken Interpretation .....	102
5. Concluding Remarks.....	115

Chapter Four.....	117
Assessing the Credibility of the New Portrait of Berkeley
1. Preliminary Remarks .....	117
2. Why Favour the New Interpretation .....	118
3. Some Difficulties with Berkeley's Philosophy .....	133
 Chapter Five .....	139
The Place of Berkeley in Modern Philosophy
1. Recapitulations.....	139
2. The Question of Berkeley's Contemporary Relevance.....	141
3. Concluding Remarks.....	148
 Bibliography.....	153
 Index.....	167